Next Steps for New Students

There are a number of important time-sensitive steps you need to take once you've been accepted into a program at BCIT.

1. Pay your commitment fee

If you have been accepted into a program, you must pay a commitment fee to hold your seat in the program. Payment is due within two weeks of the date on your acceptance letter.The commitment fee is non-transferable/non-refundable.

If you are accepted less than 60 days prior to your program start date, your first level / term fees are due within two weeks of the date on your acceptance letter.

We accept the following forms of payment:

1. Online banking (bill payment) through your financial institution using BCIT - Tuition as the payeeCash or debit card (in person only)
2. Cheque or money order payable to BCIT - please include your BCIT ID (student number)
3. Cash or debit card (in person only)

If paying by online banking, please use your BCIT ID (student number) as your account number. Please allow up to 3 business days for online bill payments to be posted to your account.

Note: BCIT does not accept credit cards for payment of tuition and related student fees. BCIT accepts payment from all Canadian banks and credit unions and it is the recommended method for paying your fees. For more information view Payment Options at BCIT

Commitment fee amounts can vary by program, but normal amounts are as follows:

Technology students	$200
Trades students	$100
International students	$1,000

Note: All fees are listed in Canadian funds. To convert Canadian dollars to your home currency, visit Bank of Canada.

2. Arrange your finances

How much will it cost? Do I need to borrow? Can I get a government student loan? Entrance Awards, scholarships, bursaries –what's the difference? Achieving high grades will be easier if you arrange your financing before your program starts. Get answers to these questions and more through BCIT Financial Aid and Awards.

3. Pay your tuition fees

Important: Tuition fees are due 60 days prior to the program start date outlined in your acceptance letter. For example, if your program starts September 4, 2007, your first level / term fees are due July 6, 2007.

You can pay for your tuition by using the following methods:

1. Online bill payment through your financial institution using BCIT - Tuition as the payee
2. Cheque or money order payable to BCIT - please include your BCIT ID (student number)
3. Cash or debit card (in person only)

If paying by online banking, please use your BCIT ID (student number) as your account number. Please allow up to 3 business days for online bill payments to be posted to your account.

Note: BCIT does not accept credit cards for payment of tuition and related student fees. BCIT accepts payment from all Canadian banks and credit unions and it is the recommended method for paying your fees. For more information view Payment Options at BCIT

Under certain circumstances, students may be eligible for a fee deferral (an extension of the payment deadline date). Students who anticipate needing financial assistance should refer to the 'arrange your finances' section of this page. You must notify your Admissions Officer if you will be applying for a fee deferral.

Note: Fees are payable by level or term. It's the first level/term program fees which are due 60 days prior to the start of your program.
